He entered the College of the Propaganda, in Rome, as a student October 18, 1863, and on June 3, 1871, was elevated to the priesthood in the Basilica of St. John Lateran, by Monsignor Castellacci, Vicegerent of the Cardinal Vicar. Father Kittell was formerly a priest of the Pittsburg Diocese, but upon the division of that diocese and the creation of the Altoona Diocese, he chose to become a member of the newly formed diocese, and has for many years been one of its most active pastors. Many of the improvements to church property over which he had charge were made as a result of his untiring energy.

Cresson, Pa., June 6th, 1911.
To whom it may concern:

It gives me great pleasure to say that Miss Hannah Loftus has taught under my supervision, two very successful terms in the Cresson schools. She is a most faithful, conscientious, and earnest teacher and worker. Her character is above reproach and her appearance attractive and winning. She is very punctual and always deeply interested in her work and pupils. In short, she understands how to handle children and how to teach. I unhesitatingly recommend Miss Loftus to any school board who is looking for an experienced and an earnest teacher.

FUNERAL TUESDAY.

Carrolltown, June 6.—The funeral of Thomas Hoover was held Tuesday morning from St. Benedict's church and interment was made in the church cemetery. The young man was aged about 25 years and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hoover. He died Saturday in New York of tuberculosis. Besides his parents he is survived by six brothers and sisters.

Was Buried Tuesday At the Summit

Young Man Was in a Serious Plight When Discovered.

The site of the sanatorium at the Summit was the scene of a very exciting time for a few hours yesterday afternoon, when a young man who gave his name as Inisfall Costello, and his age at about 22 years, attempted to take his own life by taking a dose of acconite poisoning.

The young man bore all the appearances of a very well educated man, and, in fact was too well read in the matters of materialism and athletics. He also claimed that he was taking a third year course as a regular college student.

Costello, who has been in this country for about 6 years, claims that he has been—that is, to his thinking—trouble to the public in general and thought that this was a good way to rid the country of his person. He claims that a brother of his committed suicide at the age of thirty years, and that the effect of this had something to do with his case. It is said that the brother was of the same disposition as himself and committed suicide by blowing out his brains with a revolver.

Costello was dressed in a fine suit of clothes and bore the respectful appearance of a very intelligent gentleman. He said that he had worked at different places as a telegraph operator, but of late could not find any employment. The last place that he worked was Baltimore, from which place he went to Pittsburg in hopes of finding employment, but upon falling in this, he wonder-around until he reached the top of the mountain at Gallitzin, from which place he came overland to the Summit and there proceeded to take the long prepared dose, which it is said he secured in Pittsburg.

Gallitzin, June 8.—Miss Mary C. Buck of Gallitzin and Francis B. Fox of Ebensburg were united in marriage Tuesday morning in St. Patrick's Catholic church. The pair will make their home in Ebensburg.

DOING SOME TALL TALKING

There has been a lot of talk for the few past days about the trouble arising between the borough and Contractor Brown. It appears that the borough does not want Mr. Brown to run his traction engine over Keystone avenue. They also claim that the engine does the street considerable damage, which Mr. Brown is unable to fathom out.

Mr. Brown uses the engine to haul lumber and other supplies to the Summit at the scene of his operation on the sanitorium.

SOMETHING NEW.

Well, said a young lady on First street last evening, of all the automobiles there are coming through Cresson, not mentioning the ones that are permanently anchored here. But the trusty club of Chief Kenny in the act of keeping the crowd moving, ended this conversation and nothing more of auto talk was heard.

The first to discover the unfortunate man were Mr. James and Charles Judge, who at once saw that the man needed medical attention at once and were, in a few minutes in communication with Dr. Lynch of this place. Dr. Lynch was on the scene in a very short time. The dose taken by the young man was a very strong one and he at once started to vomit, which rid his stomach of the largest part of the substance before medical aid arrived, but with a little vigorous work on the part of Dr. Lynch, the man was soon in a talkative condition.

He still appeared a little dazed over effects of the drug and on account of the fear of another attempt being made to take his own life, he was turned over to Chief of Police Kenny who sent him to Ebensburg. After the story given by the young man is heard and found to be true, by the county officials, it is likely that they will send him to some institution, where he may recover and take his place in the world as he should. In talking to an official of this place he said the following:

"Can't you commit me for something that would give me a jail sentence?" He said, "I was never in a jail before."

The unfortunate young man had wrote a note to his sister, the only words being—"Good bye."

Big County Fair to be held in Cambria's pretty county seat town, at 22, 23, 24, 25, this year. Ebensburg as a popular county fair needs no introduction to the public. Situated on the very edge of the Alleghenies, as it were, in the very heart of a region that long has been famed for its agricultural products, it is at once an attraction for summer tourists and summer seekers who strive to get away from the oppressive heat and discomforts of the lower altitudes. Years ago the Ebensburg Miners' association decided that it was not to much fraught with the possibilities of life to permit it to flourish without opposition, and they decided on a concerted action to stop holding of these fairs in the county town.

Why did this ministerial opposition become that eventually the movement yielded to the voices from the pits and discontinued the programme moved on, the grandstand, the caretaker's house, the racing track, the stock pens—everything that he pretty and one-time popular grounds had all fall into decay and neglect and disuse. Even the track began to look over-

A new agricultural association has been organized with much of the old blood in it—in fact, some of its members were among the promoters of the original old-time Agricultural association—and for this reason the town is hoping for much.

The grandstand, which had fallen into decay through disuse, has been replaced with a new and more comfortable structure.

New stables have been built—a large double barn containing 28 box-stalls and with a 16-foot run-way extending through it.

New cattle, sheep and hog-pens have been built; the pretty half-mile track has been graded and put in first-class order; a new caretaker's house has been built—a modern 6-room structure with all conveniences—water has been piped all through the grounds, from a new 500-gallon cistern, equipped with an electric pump, and everything is in apple pie order for the big show soon to begin.

Eighteen head of horses are now in training there, under the direction of Aura Booth of Albany, Ill., one of the most capable and experienced horsemen and drivers in the state from which he hails, and all of the equines are coming along nicely and will talk for themselves when the bell rings.

Whopper Rattle Snake Is Killed At Sanatorium

Big Reptile Sunning Himself On Pile of Boards When Seen; Measured Five Foot And As Thick As Man's Arm; Two More Big Ones Put To Death.

The state inspector at the sanatorium killed yesterday, afternoon, one of the largest rattlesnakes that has been seen in this section of the country for some time. The reptile measured a trifle over five feet and was as large as a man's arm.

It had 17 rattles and was a monster. The snake was first seen lying on a board pile sunning himself. When attacked he showed a heavy well-directed stroke and a heavy club soon put an end to his snake-ship.

Rattlesnakes seem to be plentiful around the Summit, Pa., several large ones were outdoiled. The evening paper reported that the Pennsylvania State Game Warden, Mr. Steel, had States some work done in the defense of two rattles-

August 3rd, Date Fixed For Gathering of Church People

The annual gathering of Methodists from the central part of the state, including the Altoona and Juniata districts of the Central Pennsylvania conference, and the Blairsville district of the Pittsburg conference, with other outlying territory, is being looked forward to each year with increasing interest and expectancy. In the size of the gathering, the facilities of the grounds and the attractiveness of the program this year promises to eclipse all former occasions. Aug. 3, 1911, is the date fixed.

SPEAKERS.

The committee on program, District Supt. Rev. B. C. Conner, Prof. T. D. Williams, of Juniata, and the Rev. H. L. Jacobs, of First church, Altoona, have been exceptionally fortunate in securing one of their first choices for the speaker at the evening services—the Rev. Dr. C. L. Mead, the eloquent and popular pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Baltimore, Md. Dr. Mead spoke at an Epworth league convention in Altoona several years ago and those who heard him will not soon forget the profound impression which he made. It is a source of great satisfaction to the committee to have secured his services for Methodist day this year.

The Rev. Robert Bagnell, D. D., pastor of the Jaynes Methodist Episcopal church, Brooklyn, N. Y., has agreed to preach at the morning hour. Throughout the metropolitan district his reputation for mighty preaching is high and widespread.

The very popular missionary gathering, always held in the afternoon, will hear the Rev. A. B. Leonard, D. D., of New York city, secretary of the board of foreign missions. His long service in this responsible position and recent inspection of the missions have furnished much that his exceptional eloquence presents with rare charm and power.

Young Folks "Moonlight" In The Grove

Party of Cresson Young Men Spend Several Hours of Evening in Picnic Grove; Clouds Obscure The Moon; And Candles Furnish Light Games And Lunch.

A moonlight picnic with the moon was a unique party held last evening in the grove by the young men of Cresson young people. The event was a most pleasing one and was attended by about two dozen boys. The moon, according to the calendar, is supposed to be brightly in the early part of the month this week and the young people planned to make merry beneath the soft rays of its light. But the disappointed when dark storm clouds completely concealed that orb. They were not daunted, however, and provided several torches, and a number of candles. In the flickering light these they spent several hours in playing games and having a general time. A delicious light luncheon was served at a late hour.

The party were the following: The Mary Mentel, with Drolsbauch, Wigham, V. J. Putz, A. J. Killed by Smith, White, Gibbs.

he accounts of the company, was criticized freely, President Mainwaring stating that Supt. Kessler of the water company had given full reports to the council and there was no reason why the auditors should not have gotten them if the superintendent could do so. The superintendent said that the auditors had never approached him in regard to any of the accounts. The report of Supt. Kessler and that of the auditors did not agree and it was decided to send it back to them for correction. This was done upon motion by Councilman Brown.

All the councilmen held their breath while Clerk Mainwaring read an order from the court, demanding the payment of the bill from the American Pipe company. The sum and substance of the order is to the effect that the borough cannot pay out a dollar until the debt is raised. There are three exceptions to the order, the payment of water rental, salaries and light. Borough Solicitor Kephart consented the order to exclude the three necessities named. As soon as any money is received by the borough, it must be paid over to the sheriff who will hold it till the amount of the debt had.

The discussion of the court order brought on the talk on the sale of bonds. Several offers, it seems, have been made for the purchase of bonds, but each one of them had a string tied to it which hinged upon a technicality referred to in the first paragraph. It concerns the definition of a borough's assets and has been the subject of several state supreme court decisions, an act of the legislature, passed at the last session, being necessary to untangle the legal

Three more big rattlesnakes have been killed at the sanatorium at the Summit, during the past week. One of the reptiles measured 64 inches in length and had 12 rattles. It was a female and the largest that has been killed in the vicinity of Cresson for a number of years. The big one was killed Wednesday morning by one of the men in charge of the work on the building. Near the first rattler was killed another big one measuring 44 inches long. The man who killed the champion almost stepped on the second snake. Monday afternoon a rattlesnake measuring about 40 inches long was killed near the sanatorium by men engaged in the construction work there.

Writer "Kicks" About Cemetery

To the Editor of The Record.
Dear Sir: I am not a knocker nor a chronic kicker, and if you will publish my little "kick" in the columns of your valuable newspaper, I will appreciate it very much.

In the first place, I would like to know why the Union cemetery at the Summit has been permitted to go to wrack and ruin. It was once one of the prettiest little cemeteries in this part of the county, but neglect of the rankest sort, it seems to me, has made it the abode of nothing but bramble bushes and weeds.

It is a sin and a shame the way the older parts of the burial ground have been permitted to run down and I think that something ought to be done to have it fixed up. Andrew Carnegie gave that plot of ground to Cresson and I feel certain that the donor would not be pleased at all by the present condition of the cemetery. It is impossible to distinguish many of the graves. Some have sunk and give one the shivers to look at them. Why can't the lot holders get together and, by contributing small sums each month, pay a man to keep the place in condition? Let us hear from the others.

RAID WAGNER COOP IN SANKERTOWN; LOCK TOO GOOD, TEAR OUT SIDE OF BUILDING.

Undaunted by the strength of a lock on the chicken coop of John Wagner of Sankertown, several thieves ripped off several heavy boards from the side of the flimsy structure and made away, last Monday night, with 18 nice, big, fat and juicy Plymouth Rock chickens. They left one lonely hen to console Mr. Wagner in his loss. It was one of the most daring and accomplished deeds of the kind ever made in Cresson and vicinity.

Mr. Wagner is a fancier. He does not maintain a large pen, but what he does have, or rather, did have, were blueblooded and valuable birds. He is the genial manager of the Cresson Baseball team and is private clerk to Supt. J. C. Cleave of the C. & C. division. Every night after feeding his chickens it was his habit to lock them up securely for the night. Chicken thieves have been epidemic in Cresson ever since the first fowl was ever brought to the town years ago, and it seems that no amount of vigilance can stop the raids.

The Wagner coop is protected from hungry marauders by a heavy lock which, for the average chicken thief, is impossible to break without rousing the entire neighborhood. Monday night two or three men, the marks of their shoes being plainly visible in the soft ground near the coop, made a desperate effort to pry open the lock. Failing in that they tore out several boards from the side of the building, exposing almost half of the interior. It was then an easy matter to crawl into the coop, choke

Contractors Pushing Work on Sanatorium

Work on the state's new tuberculosis sanitarium, located on the 500-acre tract donated by Andrew Carnegie south of Cresson, is progressing very rapidly and has reached a stage where an idea of the magnitude of the proposed institution can be gathered, the superstructure of one of the principal buildings being completed and the other main buildings being well under way.

The new institution is located about two and a half miles from Cresson, being about a mile and a half above Summit, the main group of buildings being situated near the center of the tract donated by Mr. Carnegie. This portion of the tract is heavily wooded and a big clearing had to be cut to make room for the buildings. The spot is right on the summit of the mountains, where there will be all the advantages that can be secured from perfect air and plenty of sunshine.

Since ground was first broken last September the state has accomplished a great deal of work on the tract, fences being built, a fine road constructed from the Hollidaysburg pike through the woods to the buildings, much of the undergrowth has been cleared out and the portions of the tract that are to be farmed for the use of the institution are nearly all ready to be worked.

Big Force Employed.

As room for the institution had to be cut right out of the heart of the forest, the Woodman Lumber company of Cresson, which has the general contract for the work, has had a big task to perform, but they are making splendid progress, considering the long distance they have to haul all their material and machinery.

Though the work was started last September, little could be done during the fall save clearing away and the work was practically shut down through the winter. Since the col-

125 men, most of whom are engaged on the actual construction work, being largely stone masons and carpenters, and a force of that size can accomplish a great deal in a day.

Much of the time last fall and this spring was consumed in building the great sewerage system necessary to give perfect drainage to the buildings and grounds, this being one of the biggest features of the job, and the practical completion of this also gives room now for more progress on the buildings themselves. There is, however, no evidence of undue haste in the work of construction, the idea being to build thoroughly and substantially, rather than rapidly, and an examination of the buildings as they stand shows that the state is getting good results, if they don't break any speed records.

Commissioner is Pleased. State Health Commissioner Samuel B. Dixon, of Philadelphia, who has been keeping close watch on the work, in order to see that absolutely everything is done that will tend to give as perfect a health resort for the tubercular patients as possible, and that every part of the buildings have a perfect system of sanitation, just a few days ago made a thorough inspection of the work and expressed himself as well pleased with the progress that is being made.

In addition, Mr. W. E. Bragg, a prominent Scranton architect, who is an inspector for the state, located on the ground and watching every minute detail of the work as done each day, expressed himself yesterday as well satisfied with the progress that is being made and has been about the season opened.

Academy Will Open Soon

EVERYTHING IN READINESS FOR MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR IN HISTORY OF FAMOUS SCHOOL.

Tuesday, Sept. 12, will reopen Mount Aloysius academy. This year promises to be one of the most prosperous that the school has enjoyed. Many new pupils are added to its numbers and everything is being done by the faculty that is likely to promote the welfare and happiness of the scholars.

The academy has been fortunate enough to secure the services of Mrs. J. H. Pease of New York, for vocal and French, whose success under French and Italian masters abroad, promises well for her original work in these branches. Special attention has been given to the remodeling of elementary grades and the work for the minors is in the hands of three teachers, deemed necessary on account of the increase of numbers in the kindergarten, who will take charge of class, recreation, and table etiquette. The physical culture lessons will be continued under Miss J. Vandenberg, who has done very efficient work in the past. The summer course in music, by Miss M. C. Pease, was a success. The regular year is now open and the academy promises to be the best advertisement of the school's ability to reach instried a great deal of work on the tract, fences being built, a fine road constructed from the Hollidaysburg pike through the woods to the buildings, much of the undergrowth has been cleared out and the portions of the tract that are to be farmed for the use of the institution are nearly all ready to be worked.

Grow With a Growing Bank

We regard the steadily continued growth of this institution as a credit to the enterprise of our business community as well as an evidence of the esteem in which our business policies and methods are held.

We invite you to make this bank the clearing house for your financial affairs. We want the small accounts of individuals as well as the larger business of firms and corporations. The wage earner has need of the bank as well as the business man. Open an account with even a small amount, pay your bills by check and see how much better you get along.

Busses Relegated To Garbage Heap

The passing of the old depot marks the passing of two of Cresson's familiar sights, the two big "busses" which carried people to and from the station. The Commercial and the Anderson house have already relegated their busses to the garbage heap and the two teams of horses are offered to the best bidder. The Anderson house management has fitted out a neat-looking handcart and has employed a young colored fellow to haul their guests' baggage and luggage to the station.

Penny Will Ship Free To Austin

The Record office is in receipt of a notification from the Pennsylvania railroad freight department to the effect that the road will carry free of any charge whatever goods destined for the flood survivors at Austin, Pa. Any Cresson residents who are charitably inclined may send clothing, food, money or anything that would be of immediate use to the sufferers at Austin through the courtesy of the Penny.

The editor of The Record will gladly take charge of and send off any donation which the residents of Cresson may choose to make. If any one wishes to give, either leave your donation at the office of The Record or take it direct to the freight depot.

Has Relatives In Austin

Arthur Wylie, the well-known mail clerk on the C. & C. division, is off the anxious seat following a hurry-up message received by him a few days ago from his aunt and uncle, who reside in the stricken city of Austin, Pa., assuring him that all his relatives had escaped the awful fate which the rolling waters of the Bayless dam carried with them in their flight down the narrow valley leading to Austin.

Mr. Wylie was born and raised a few miles from Austin and is familiar with the place and its environs. He has several relatives at both Wharton and Austin. His uncle and was a family affair and since it has been settled by the vote at the polls of last Saturday there is no reason why every Republican voter in the county should not give his undivided support to the election of this ticket. As against the common enemy, so known in politics, the Democrats, it is the duty of every Republican to stand loyally by the candidates and work with might and main that a glorious victory may be recorded in November.

Without going into detail as to the various candidates, M. B. Stephens, the nominee for judge, is a capable lawyer. He has had six years' experience as a district attorney and for a number of years was solicitor of the city of Johnstown. His personal character is above reproach and during the entire campaign not one word was ever said against Major Stephens as a man, as a citizen and as a person well qualified to fill the position of president judge of Cambria county. It will be the earnest aim of this paper to give Mr. Stephens and the entire Republican ticket its undivided support. The talk of factions is rapidly dying out and we predict that within ten days one of the most solid array of fighting Republicans will be lined up against the Democracy, the like of which was never witnessed before in Cambria county, and we believe we know what we are talking about. If any person thinks otherwise they will waken up after the November election to find they have been dreaming.

Plan to Improve Cresson Cemetery

For the purpose of talking over and perhaps for the setting on foot plans for the improvement and betterment of the Union cemetery at the Summit, a meeting of all persons interested has been called by the leaders in the movement, to be held next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the offices of B. C. Seeds in the Bank building.

Since attention was called to the miserable conditions prevailing at the cemetery by a writer to The Record, those who hold lots and who have relatives interred there have practically decided to do something toward the fixing up of this once pretty little spot.

Something You Should Know About Substitution

If you wanted to buy oak lumber and the man delivered yellow pine—you would know the difference.

If you wanted to buy silk and they sent you calico, you would have no trouble in seeing the substitution.

It is not so easy with medicine. A great many medicines look alike and taste alike, but they don't act alike. Just think this over the next time you want medicines.

Remember that at our store you can absolutely rely on every drug we sell.

The difference between buying medicines and merchandise is the difference between knowledge and belief. You know the one, but you have to believe in the other. You will be absolutely safe when you put your belief in us.

Improvements For Cemetery

Active steps were taken last Tuesday evening for the improvement of the Union cemetery at the Summit, when a dozen interested men from Cresson, Summit, Lilly and Gallitzin met in the offices of Blair C. Seeds in the bank building and formed, or rather revived, the old cemetery corporation. It was decided to map out the lots in the newer portion of the cemetery and lay out a pretty driveway through the graveyard this fall.

Blair C. Seeds was appointed temporary secretary and Dr. Robert Devereaux was chosen chairman. Following a lengthy discussion on the plans for the beautifying of the place, G. S. Mitchell, Henry Taylor, Dr. Robert Devereaux, Charles Judge and Arthur Wylie of Cresson, John E. Lowry of Lilly and Jacob Yeckley of Gallitzin were appointed trustees of the permanent organization. A. H. Beard, B. W. Hardine, Arthur L. Wylie and John E. Lowry were elected on the executive committee to take entire charge of the improvements.

Takes Unto Himself A Bride

Special to The Record.

Phillipsburg, Oct. 11.—A pretty wedding was solemnized today at high noon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Swires, when Miss Jessie Pearl Swires and Thomas McNamara Walker of Cresson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Walker of Tyrone, formerly of this city, were united in wedlock in the presence of about forty-five relatives. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Marion Sharpless of Cresson, a cousin of the bride, the bride and groom proceeded to the front parlor and took their places under an arch of autumn leaves, where they were met by the bride's pastor, Rev. R. P. Miller, who performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a handsome gown of ivory satin, trimmed with pearl and crystal, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses, showered with lilies of the valley.

The parlor decorations were carried out with autumn leaves, ferns and white dahlias. The bride's table, at which places for six were marked off by pink satin ribbon, presented a pretty arrangement with pink carnations as the center piece. Many beautiful presents were received, among which linen, hand-painted china, Haviland china, a gift from the bride's parents.

The bride and groom were widely known in this place as a student of the seminary and the position of shop clerk at the Cresson R. company at Cresson. Mr. and Mrs. Walke to catch the east-bound train for Washington, New York and upon their return housekeeping at Cresson ready-furnished cottages.

Tener, Republican candidate for Governor, seems to have fallen flat in the estimation of the great mass of thinking people. The unflattering articles in the North American savor too much of yellow journalism.

The entire scheme of the North American is, and ever has been, that of circulation and advertising based solely upon financial gain, and it has never hesitated to vilify the most incompetent man of ability might be held up to the public as Tener has been in any undertaking where he has lost money.

Instead of influencing their readers against Tener the North American articles tend rather to draw friends to his assistance and many who had previously not intended to vote the Republican ticket will now rally to its support and join the solid ranks of the Grand Old Party.

SANITORIUM ATTRACTS CROWDS

Sanitarium Attracts Crowds

The new Sanitarium in course of erection at the Summit has proved quite an attraction, not only for our own people but many from Johnstown, Altoona, South Fork and near by towns. Sunday after Sunday great crowds can be seen wending their way in the direction of the institution. Nor is this to be wondered at, for although the building is only in the first stages of erection the natural beauty of the location is such as can hardly be surpassed. Contrary to general opinion, the sanitarium is not to be situated on the wind blown and storm ridden "Johnson's Hill" but about a mile from that well known spot. Located in the midst of a virgin forest of chestnut oak and beech it offers an ideal retreat for those who desire to get close to nature. The thick forest on every hand will not only shelter the patients from the cruel blasts of winter but will serve as a protection from the burning rays of the summer's sun.

Good roads are being built over the whole tract, one of which leads from the Pike directly through the old "Stone Quarry," not long since held in horror as a den for rattlesnakes, bears and panthers, but which has now taken on such a modern aspect that the most timid need not fear to approach. An air of mystery too, which has long been associated with the place, has been quickly dispelled at the approach of the lumberman's ax and the woods man's sledge.

Tradition has it that two unknown men were found dead within its precincts and another murdered in cold blood. One of the unknown was found after the holding of a German picnic, one of the largest gatherings ever assembled on the Summit.

The place was at one time famous as a hunting ground abounding in deer and bear as well as the smaller game. The deer being so plentiful that within the memory of those now living they had been seen, pursued by the hunter, dart from the wood, flee over the fields of the old Johnson place, cross the Pike and become lost in the trees beyond.

At present the only game to be found are the squirrel and the rabbit, whose lives from how on will be protected as notices have been posted on every hand forbidding the taking of life, since the purpose of the institution is its conservation.
